

McGregor Real Estate acknowledges and understands that we have a responsibility to our customers, our team and to the wider community to ensure we take care and that we do not adversely affect the health and safety of others in our community during the current pandemic.

Following Government advice and directives we are continuing to adapt how we operate our work environment and our interactions with all stakeholders in our local industry. We respectfully ask all those that we deal with to continue to accept these changes and work with us to minimise the impact of this Pandemic across our community.

McGregor Real Estate is still fully operational and conducting business however we have introduced some measures and taken some actions to help look after everyone's health and safety.

These actions include:

- Property inspections of town and country listings are still being conducted with increased emphasis on social distancing and hygiene.
- Open Homes are now being conducted, however we must adhere to strict protocols.
- Right now our office is closed to the public, however we are still conducting business remotely.
- Our auction team have after recent lifting of restrictions by NSW Government recommenced running clearing sales with set Covid 19 protocols and social distancing measures. Our Real Property Auctions are also now being conducted in rooms under the current venue guidelines and we are making every effort to be aware of community needs.
- In property management our services continue however we are planning and conducting routine inspections to have minimal interaction.
- Ingoing and outgoing inspections will be conducted with only our Property Manager present and tenants will be able to discuss any matters by telephone.
- We are liaising with our trades and maintenance suppliers and all urgent necessary repairs will be addressed as they arise however non urgent repairs and maintenance will be conducted under Covid 19 guidelines.
- Our team are continuing to undertake ongoing appraisal and listings across the region with all the health and safety recommendations foremost in our procedures.

Please accept these health and safety measures and continue to work with us at McGregor Real Estate. We are keen to secure new business in these trying times and we will be liaising with government and industry advisers to ensure we are aware of all new directives.

We appreciate your cooperation and would welcome your contact by telephone, email or text and we will to keep you updated on Facebook.
